Youth Education Centre (YEC) is a school that operates over three sites. These sites are:

- Goldsborough Road – this is within the Adelaide Youth Training Centre and caters for young male offenders aged 15 – 18 years and female offenders aged 10 – 18 years who are serving detention orders or on remand under the direction of the Adelaide Youth Court. A maximum of 48 students attend the school on full time basis. The school is open 49 weeks of the year with an alternative education program provided during term breaks.
- Jonal Drive – this is part of the Adelaide Youth Training Centre and was previously the location of the Cavan Training Centre. YEC provides educational programs for 49 weeks each year, catering for younger males 10 – 14 years and young people in serving detention orders or on remand. A maximum of 12 attend the school on full time basis with a focus on Australian Curriculum.
- Flexicentre - was established to provide educational and vocational programs at a range of sites throughout the metropolitan and also rural and remote areas of South Australia. These programs cater for young people between the ages of 15 – 18 years of age at risk and/or have had experience with the Youth Justice system. They are:
 - General courses at the Flexicentre (three days per week)
 - Short and mobile courses to meet the vocational needs of the target group.
 - Building Links Programme for at risk youth on three days per week. This programme also provides a VET course for the local regional schools for three days per week.

ICAN Flexible Learning Options

In 2015, Flexicentre became an ICAN/FLO provider where students from across the metropolitan area are referred to Flexicentre as FLO supported learners. 24 of these students are engaged in SACE/VET subjects including Horticulture and Automotive as part of the general program. Another 6 are case managed off-site.

Characteristics of the student population include:

- Have had experience with the Youth Justice system. In the Adelaide Youth Training Centre, these young people are on detention, remand or police custody orders.
- Students under the guardianship of the minister
- Ages 10 – 18 years old (some students may be older than 18 years if they are completing a detention order committed as a juvenile)
- High percentage of students with educational, social and emotional disabilities and disadvantages.

- 10 - 15% are female and located at the Goldsborough Road site.
- A diverse mix of cultural backgrounds including about 40+% Aboriginal students
- A considerable number of young people with drug dependency problems and/or high level of substance abuse
- Disconnection from mainstream education or chronic non-attendance with difficulty engaging in future pathways
- A high proportion of young people from dysfunctional family backgrounds which manifest abuse, poverty, neglect, abandonment and incarceration
- High recidivism.
